

Refluxaid Tablets

Thanks to its medical action, it is intended to be used in order to limit symptoms related to gastroesophageal reflux disease and to esophagitis. The use of the product limits the burning sensation (heartburn), regurgitation, difficulty swallowing (dysphagia), painful swallowing (odynophagia), cough, hoarseness.

Our anti-reflux line comes from the synergy of high viscosity Magnesium Alginate with Plant Extract and acts as a protective and lasting barrier inside the stomach protecting the esophagus from burning and acidity caused by reflux. Alginates are polysaccharides extracted and purified from marine algae. Alginate block reflux mechanically: when it reach the stomach, it precipitates and forms a floating gel that acts as an anti-reflux barrier.
